“ 2 years, I miss you so very much my friend!! I stop and visit you often, I still bring you all my tales of woe, you never judged, and never sugar coated things. If I was wrong, you told me. You had amazing advice, you helped me see things from different perspectives. You drove all the way to Illinois to pick me and my son up after we were in a car accident and rolled my car 4 times, I called you to tell you what happened and you told me you were coming to get us, no questions asked. I lost my purse, money, even our shoes were thrown off our feet, you came loaded with food, shoes, love and support, all this 2 months before you passed away. You were so sick, when you made it to us, after 10hrs of driving you were flat worn out. But you came girl, you made both me and my son, feel protected and loved. You had tremendous inner strength. You were a good woman my friend. There are no words that can Express how much I cared about you, and how much I miss you. I hope you are at peace on those streets of gold

“ My sister in her last days is not the woman I want to remember. Although she fought her disease with all the strength she had. I'm proud of her strength and her stamina. I'll remember her before her illness and the loads this old world made her bear. Love you sissy and I'll miss you very much. Ronnie Trail
