“ Eric was like the big brother I didn't have but needed. I could always talk to him and get some advice. His love and knowledge of music was second to none. The music is where we connected in this world of madness and found some way through it. I learned so much about how to be a better musician from him.

Later in life Eric helped me get a job working at a machine shop. Little did I know at the time. Starting out with that company working with Eric would turn out to be my life's work and has turned into a very rewarding career. I am forever in his debt for my career path that he helped kick start for me.

He left his mark on me and my family. We will forever miss our old friend.

We Love you brother! May you find peace in the afterlife.

“ It was a blessing to be given a chance to know you all. I met Eric as a child then didn't see him for 19 years and re met him 2 yrs ago and first thing he said after he and I realized he knew me was he was glad to see I'm good and grown and who my boyfriend was. I will miss you Eric and will always remember the great friend I had.
