“ I moved in with Keith (my brother) and Lisa a while back after my divorce and they both were very supportive of me and cared for me when I was having some very bad days and trying to move forward. Lisa and I were good buddy's and of course like family we step on each other's toes but they always made time to help me out. Lisa kept me from falling in a very bad depression and when she would see me go hide, she would always grab my arm and pull me outside and first thing out of her mouth was "c'mon Suzy, let's take a walk" and I'll never forget that and Keith being the big brother always let me literally cry on his shoulder! After a while I got better and everywhere we went me and Lisa would have a great time and laugh until we cried and I loved making Lisa laugh because she had a very funny laugh! I tried every day to do or say something to keep her wondering what I would say next! That was all the time! I remember we were coming home from Walmart one evening and coming over a hill this guy stopped really quick in front of us and we hit his rear end. We parked and then busted out laughing!! Go figure 😊 we were Hekel and jekel!! Going to miss you much Lisa!! Keep smiling and laughing until I meet you home ☐☐ I appreciate you and the friendship we have! I'll always love you Sis! ☐☐
