“ We extend our condolences to the Brinkleys and Houstons. I remember Mark from our school days. He was a constant presence in church. So many good memories. Those were precious times. I wish I could relive them.

“ You were the squirmy, wiggly kid near the front pew that got slapped by Momma just about every Sunday. Your brother and I knew better than sit that close to the preacher's wife. We spent Sundays and Wednesday nights in a place that will forever glow in my memory. O' those precious times. How I would love to live them again. We extend our deepest sympathy to the Houston Family.

“ Mark, you are the love of my life. When we said forever who would have thought it would've been so short. The latest song you sent me just last week “God Must Have Spent a Little More Time” is engraved in my heart. You was my angel and my Godsend. You showed me what true love was. You reshaped this shattered heart and loved me for me. We are still TeamMJ FOREVER!!! I love you McHunky ❤️ This was our last picture on Christmas Day.
