“ The funniest thing Nancy did was to call me upon leaving the Rejuvenation and Nutrition workshop hosted by Jeremy Cousins, in Arizona, after her stay of a few weeks. Nancy had learned to make almond milk from almonds and to make many delicious foods with raw foods, a new passion in her quest to learn new cooking skills. Almond cheesecake was her new favorite food. "I'm heading to Olive Garden for some tiramisu!" she shared as she was leaving. We laughed and laughed for a long time, she was craving some fast food at that point!

Nancy and Don hosted the first Winter Solstice celebration many years ago at their lovely home. We had much in common, mostly food, caring for elderly Unitarian friends, and our Golden Retrievers. I will think of her each day as I eat unique, organic, healthy foods and celebrate the solstice with the changing of the seasons. What a loving friend Nan was.

“ Nancy was well liked by many at the Tullahoma Senior Center. Really, I don't know of anyone who did not like her. She always contributed insightful and relevant information to any conversation. Her quick wit inspired many and she will be sorely missed. Lon Cartwright
