My son asked about Torok just the other day. He met Torok when he was almost 3 and remembers him today as a 12 year old. Nice guy, he left an impact doing something he loved.

“ I first met Russell at the Tennessee Renaissance festival in 1990. I was the King there and I will never forget the Troll hole that he climbed out of. It was an amazing effect. We have met several more time over the years at many different faires and we always had fun times. My wife and I will miss our good friend.

“ I met Russell a long time ago on Myspace. I told him about the Pensacola and Mobile Ren Faires. He actually drove down to the Mobile event when we were at the Bay Bears Stadium and checked out the fair incognito.

The one and only time I ever saw him without his latex mask. He once told me it took almost 4 hours to paint the latex onto his face to prepare for the event. Not to mention his elaborate yet totally unique troll throne built of skulls. As Torok the GOOD Troll, Russell put smiles on the faces of all ages. Some were more like blushing grins, but he even made the older ladies feel awesome, and the kids adored him. We used to tease him that once you go purple you never go back! I know I am not the only one that will miss him as he was loved by his family, friends, fellow Rennies, fans, countless children.... Torok aka Russell, you will always be in our hearts. ... I will miss the purple, the glitter, the skull collections, the hugs, and your smile and your huge heart.

Now why is there not a PURPLE candle to light?

“ I would take my daughter to the Renaissance Faire in Florence every year from the time she was born (1995) and the first thing we would do was look for Torok. My daughter was fascinated by him. I have a few pictures of the two of them together, but can't locate them right now. He really, really enjoyed entertaining the kids. Russell, you will be missed greatly and not just by the children. You were an original and there is no way anyone can ever even attempt to fill your shoes.
